DETAILED ACTION

1. Claim 6–9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In claim 6, the limitation “a pair of ram” is awkward and renders the claim indefinite. Further “said ram” in the same line lacks clear antecedent basis in that a pair of ram has been recited before the limitation.
2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sperko in view of Batcheller. Sperko teaches the claimed invention set forth in the claims including an upper 42 and lower handle 48 which are made to lock onto a member to be formed, an upper jaw 43, a lower jaw 49, an adjustable ram 45 affixed to the upper jaw 43, the ram having a tip 53, a means for adjusting the adjustable ram at 46, and a depression in the lower jaw at 53. Hence Sperko teaches the claimed invention excepting a removable adjusting means for adjusting the adjustable ram. The adjuster of Sperko teaches a non-removable ram adjuster. Batcheller teaches a ram adjuster requiring a removable adjusting means, i.e., a screwdriver and wrench. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have provided the tool of Sperko a removable adjusting means so as to make the tool lighter and easier to manufacture, such a provision being an obvious choice of adjusting means rendering no new or unobvious results. Regarding claim 4, obviously the adjusting means used in Batcheller would be a wrench although not specifically shown. Regarding the depression in the lower jaw, to have made the depression v-shaped in lieu of a part-spherical shape would have been but an obvious choice of tool expedients and would have been according to the desired depression wanted are needed. V-shaped dies are well known in crimping dies and would have been obvious to the skilled artisan if desired.

Regarding claims 6-13, the references to Sperko and Batcheller fail to teach multiple rams and dimples yet to have multiplied the effect of Sperko to what ever number desired and possible would have been an obvious choice of tool design rendering no new or unobvious result.

3. Claim 20 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-20 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

5. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a). A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
